OUR HISTORY

Born out of the recognition that addiction related issues are associated with complex and multiple morbidities regardless of race, gender and/or ethnicity and that its prevalence is global in nature, a need was identified for an international network of clinicians in the field of addiction medicine. The International Society of Addiction Medicine (ISAM) had its inaugural meeting in 1999 in Palm Springs, US.

Since then ISAM has had its annual meeting in 18 different countries in an effort to make its meeting accessible to neighbouring countries around the world. As an international fellowship organization of clinicians, ISAM provides a membership-based forum for clinicians worldwide.

The educational mandate of the Society is to promote the exchange of information and ideas about pharmacological and non-pharmacological addiction research, treatment and management

ISAM's manifesto identified the following commitments to:

- Advance knowledge on addiction-related issues
- Recognise that clinicians worldwide have a major role to play in the management of conditions with other stakeholders
- Enhance the competencies of the clinician's role
- Emphasis of the importance of continual educational activities and other clinical governance activities
- Establish consensus and position documents including practice guidelines

OUR MANDATE

The International Society of Addiction Medicine (ISAM) is an international collaboration of Addiction Medicine specialists and/or generalist clinicians that aim to support, improve and sustain evidence-based education, research and policy driven activities in the prevention and treatment of illicit and licit substance use and behavioral use disorders

OUR PRODUCTS

ISAM Textbook of Addiction Treatment: International Perspectives 2nd Edition

This textbook is the basis for the ISAM Certification Examination with 110 contributions from 220 international experts in the field of addiction medicine and related disciplines.

ISAM Certification Examination

The ISAM Exam is a postgraduate diploma level testing knowledge and competencies in the field of addiction medicine. In the 16 years since inception, 280 have passed from 26 countries.

ISAM Fundamentals Workshops

Two current interactive Fundamentals Workshops: Leadership and Training the Trainers.

ISAM Annual Global Scientific Congress

Fulfilling its educational mandate, ISAM helps organise, with the support of local committees, an annual scientific congress varying the geographical zone location in an effort to make the proceedings accessible to all.

ISAM GEN - Global Experts' Network

Expert opinion constitutes an important source of information. The dynamic and complex nature of substance use disorders and behavioral addictions necessitates the formation of global networks which can rapidly identify emerging challenges, synthesize cross-national information, and provide valid consensus opinions on areas of disagreement.

ISAM Regional meetings

ISAM supports regional meetings jointly with the relevant national bodies

General Assembly Webinars

Representatives of addiction medicine societies around the world share their status, thoughts, ideas and comments
